

I feel strongly that airing an anti-Kerry program on 62 Sinclair stations days before the election is a blatant abuse of media power.

The airwaves are public. If the reporting cannot be balanced, it should not be aired. This is a perfect example of the threat that media consolidation poses to our democracy.

Please either stop Sinclair from airing "Stolen Honor" or require them to also air "Going Upriver: The Long war of John Kerry" during a similar time slot to balance its programming.

Thank you.
